Indoor Air Quality and Known Environmental Issues... What You Should Know for Sustainability!

What topics will be covered?

A brief review of Indoor Air Quality (IAQ) concerns pertaining to indoor health including Carbon Dioxide, Carbon Monoxide, Particulates (such as dust mites, dander, pollen), VOCs, effects of temperature and humidity, mold, and Radon. Coupling IAQ information with a brief review of the outdoor environment; specifically vapor intrusion. Methods to mitigate IAQ and outdoor concerns in a residential environment while maintaining energy efficiency.

About the Presenter

Gene Swier is an internationally certified Construction Safety Engineer with over 35 years experience and nearly 4,000 property assessments including industrial hygiene aspects. Most recently, he has been performing assessments at The Pentagon. Mr. Swier has been involved with energy efficiency initiatives since the mid-1970s; and included a mayoral appointment as a Town Energy Coordinator, the first local initiative by the Federal government to manage the “energy crisis.”
